Why Storemate exists.

THE NORTH STAR

Empowering Entrepreneurs.

Everything Storemate does exists for one reason.

To give Sri Lankan online sellers the tools, knowledge, and professional standard to build a business that buyers trust.

What this means for the team.

Every person on the Storemate team — regardless of role — is in the business of empowering entrepreneurs. The support agent who resolves a data error at 9pm is empowering an entrepreneur. The designer who makes an onboarding screen clearer is empowering an entrepreneur. The developer who ships a feature that reduces return rates is empowering an entrepreneur.

This is not a tagline. It is the filter through which every decision in this company should be made. Before building a feature, ask: does this empower the entrepreneur? Before writing a message, ask: does this empower the entrepreneur? Before setting a price, ask: does this reflect the value we give to the entrepreneur?

The six values — at a glance.

01

Trusted & Accountable

We earn trust through track record and own every problem completely.

02

Partner & Champion

We grow with sellers and level the playing field for every one of them.

03

Human & Simple

We speak warmly and plainly — complexity is a failure of design.

04

Professional & Secure

We operate to the highest standard and protect every piece of seller data.

05

Pioneer & Integrated

We build ahead of the market and become indispensable to seller operations.

06

Community & Educator

We grow the industry — not just our customer list.

Trusted & Accountable

WHAT THIS MEANS

Sellers trust us because we have earned it — not because we claimed it. Five years and 25 million orders processed through Curfox gave us a track record that speaks before we say a word. But trust is only real if we maintain it when things go wrong. Accountability means we never hide, never deflect, and never make excuses. We fix the problem first — then explain what happened.

IN SIMPLE TERMS FOR THE TEAM

If something breaks — own it immediately. Fix it completely. Tell the seller exactly what you did. Never say "we are looking into it" without following up with a resolution the same day.

The values inside this.

● Trustful

Our history is proof. 25 million orders did not happen by accident. We earned our position in this industry through years of showing up and delivering.

● Responsible

We get serious when things go wrong. Our team works beyond office hours when a seller's business is affected. That is not policy. That is character.

● Long-term Thinking

We build relationships and infrastructure for 10 years — not next quarter. Sellers should feel Storemate will still be here and growing when their business is 10 times its current size.

Partner & Champion

WHAT THIS MEANS

We do not treat sellers as customers who pay us a monthly fee. We treat them as partners whose success directly determines our success. When a seller grows their business, Storemate grows. That is not a marketing line — it is the business model. Alongside this, we are the equaliser. A small seller on Storemate should have access to the same professional tools, systems, and standards that the largest businesses in the country operate on. We level the playing field.

IN SIMPLE TERMS FOR THE TEAM

Every decision you make for a seller — in support, in product, in sales — ask one question: does this help their business grow? If yes, do it. If no, rethink it. We are on their side. Always.

The values inside this.

● Partner Mindset

We measure our success by their success. Support does not close a ticket — it helps a business. Product does not ship a feature — it solves a seller's real problem.

● Equaliser

The seller who started on a Facebook page deserves the same professional infrastructure as a large enterprise. Storemate makes that possible. That is not charity — it is our purpose.

● Seller Elevation

Every seller who uses Storemate should feel they have moved up a level. From informal to professional. From side hustle to real business. We make them feel that through the product, the support, and every interaction.

Human & Simple

WHAT THIS MEANS

We speak to sellers like intelligent adults who are busy running a business — not like IT users reading a manual. Every message, every notification, every support reply, every piece of content should feel warm, human, and immediately understandable. If a seller has to read a sentence twice to understand it — we have failed. Complexity is a failure of design. In our software and in our words.

IN SIMPLE TERMS FOR THE TEAM

Before you send any message or publish any content — read it out loud. If it sounds like a corporate announcement, rewrite it. If it contains a word a seller would not use in conversation, remove it. If it is longer than it needs to be, cut it.

The values inside this.

● Friendly

We are warm before we are formal. Sellers should feel they are talking to a person who genuinely likes them — not a support ticket system. Long-term relationships are built on warmth, not efficiency.

● Simple

One idea per sentence. No jargon. No abbreviations a seller would not know. If it cannot be understood in one read, it is not simple enough. This applies to the product UI, onboarding, support messages, ads, and social posts — everything.

● Approachable

A seller nervous about using software for the first time should feel Storemate welcomes them — not intimidates them. Our language and product make technology feel accessible, not complicated.

Professional & Secure

WHAT THIS MEANS

We are not a one-person freelance operation or a startup experiment. We are a structured, award-winning company with a capable team and a clear vision. Every touchpoint — from the product UI to the invoice format to the support email — should reflect that. Alongside this, the data a seller trusts us with — their orders, customer details, business trends — is handled with the same seriousness as a bank handles financial data. We are working toward ISO 27001 certification. We do not misuse data. Ever.

IN SIMPLE TERMS FOR THE TEAM

You represent a company that has won 8 national and international awards. Act like it — in every email, every design, every conversation. And treat every piece of seller data as if it belongs to someone who trusted you personally with it. Because they did.

The values inside this.

● Professional

A structured, visionary team with capable people. Sellers dealing with Storemate should feel they are dealing with a serious organisation — not a startup figuring things out.

● Authoritative

We know more about Sri Lankan e-commerce operations than any competitor. Five years and 25 million orders gave us knowledge that cannot be bought, hired, or shortcut.

● Confident

We do not apologise for what we charge. We do not undersell what we offer. Our confidence comes from evidence — and that evidence is real.

● Privacy

Business data, customer information, and market trends are handled in a secure, private environment. ISO 27001 is not a checkbox — it is a public promise to every seller.

● Polished

Every visual, every word, every interaction is deliberate and finished. No rough edges. No placeholder content. The standard is visible in every detail.

Pioneer & Integrated

WHAT THIS MEANS

We do not wait for the market to tell us what to build. Our operational history already revealed what Sri Lankan sellers will need — before they can articulate it themselves. We build ahead. We launch what others are still thinking about. And as we build, we connect Storemate deeper into the platforms, systems, and networks sellers already use — so that over time, Storemate becomes the central operating system of their business.

IN SIMPLE TERMS FOR THE TEAM

When you are building a feature or planning a campaign — think one step ahead of what sellers are asking for today. Our job is to solve problems sellers have not yet named. Every integration we add is another reason a seller's business runs better through Storemate than anywhere else.

The values inside this.

● Pioneer

We set trends in the Sri Lankan e-commerce market. Competitors and customers watch what we launch next. Every feature release should feel like an industry moment — not a software update.

● Integrated

Storemate connects to the platforms sellers already use. The deeper the integration, the more indispensable the product becomes. This is about creating value through depth.

● Always Ahead

Technology moves fast. Sellers should never worry about falling behind because of the platform they chose. Storemate carries that responsibility for them — constantly evolving.

● Innovation from Experience

We do not innovate for the sake of it. We innovate because 25 million orders showed us exactly what needs to change. Every new feature has an operational truth behind it.

Community & Educator

WHAT THIS MEANS

Our responsibility does not end with our paying customers. We are invested in the health and growth of Sri Lankan e-commerce as a whole. That means creating content, hosting events, publishing insights, and building platforms where sellers — whether or not they use Storemate — can learn and grow. An industry that grows produces more sellers. More sellers produce more opportunity for Storemate. But more importantly — it is simply the right thing to do for the community we are part of.

IN SIMPLE TERMS FOR THE TEAM

Every piece of educational content we create, every event we host, every insight we share — builds trust before a sale and loyalty after one. Give value first. Always. A seller who learned something valuable from Storemate before they ever signed up will be a customer for life.

The values inside this.

● Community Supporter

We grow the industry around us — not just our own customer list. Seller meetups, industry reports, partnerships with chambers of commerce. We are a stakeholder in Sri Lankan e-commerce — not just a vendor inside it.

● Educator

We give sellers knowledge before we ask for money. YouTube content, practical guides, Sinhala-language resources, case studies that teach through real stories. Education is the most durable form of marketing.

● Order Standard

We instil a code of conduct in every seller on the platform. Every order should be taken so seriously that the buyer never needs to return it. Organised. Accurate. Respectful of the buyer's trust.

● Sri Lankan Pride

Using Storemate should make a Sri Lankan seller feel proud. Proud to be part of a community that takes itself seriously. Proud to represent Sri Lankan business at its best.

How values become behaviour.

Values written on paper change nothing. Values lived through daily decisions change everything. This page translates each brand value into the specific behaviour expected from every team member — every day.

01 Trusted & Accountable

When a seller reports a problem — acknowledge it within 2 hours. Fix it the same day. Tell them exactly what you did. Never leave an issue unresolved over a weekend without a status update.

02 Partner & Champion

Before every seller interaction — ask "how does this help their business?" Not "how do I close this ticket?" Not "how do I make a sale?" Their growth is the measure of our success.

03 Human & Simple

Before sending any message — read it aloud. If it sounds corporate, rewrite it. If it contains jargon, remove it. If it is longer than needed, cut it. Every word must earn its place.

04 Professional & Secure

Treat every piece of seller data as if it belongs to someone who trusted you personally. Never share, never misuse, never be careless. And in every interaction — represent a company that has won 8 awards and earned its position in this industry.

05 Pioneer & Integrated

When building or planning — think one step ahead of what sellers are asking for today. Our job is to solve problems they have not yet named. Build for the seller of tomorrow, not just the seller of today.

06 Community & Educator

Give value before you ask for anything. One piece of educational content, one useful insight, one genuine piece of advice — creates more loyalty than any campaign. We grow the industry. The industry grows us.
